System Initialization

The application you are accessing requires a significant amount of time to initialize. This application is accessing county-wide map and image databases.

Please do not attempt to click beyond the current action until the system is ready. Additional mouse clicks are not stored in memory and will not be executed. Additional mouse clicks may also cause the application to freeze and require you to enter from the home page again.

The Retrieving Map pop-up is an indication that the system is still executing a command.
